THIS YEAR marks the four-hundredth anniversary of the death of St. Ignatius Loyola, founder of the Society of Jesus. Hence it is quite appropriate that we honor this great saint in our Annual.

Ignatius was born in 1491 in the castle of Loyola in Spain. Having sought worldly glory in battle during his youth, he fell wounded in 1521 while defending the fortress of Pampeluna. This was the turning point of his life. During his convalescence, the reading of a "Life of Christ" led to an intense internal struggle which culminated in a vision of the Blessed Virgin with the Child Jesus, "at whose sight he felt a surpassing sweetness, which finally left him with a loathing for his past sins." He became a soldier of Christ fighting to save souls. With the approval of Pope Paul III, Ignatius found the Society of Jesus in 1540 and served as first General of the Order until his death on July 31, 1556.

The Jesuits arrived in what is now Maryland with the first Calvert expedition in 1634 when Father Andrew White and four other Jesuits were sent from the English mission. After a long period of suppression under the Puritans, the Society finally succeeded in establishing itself, and founded Georgetown University with the aid of Reverend John Carroll. In 1852, Loyola was established in Baltimore.

The Ratio Studiorum, according to which all Jesuit schools are being conducted, is a system for coordinating the Curricula, Methods and Discipline of the schools. It is not just an inspiration, but an adaptation of techniques and ideas in the light of experience. Ruthlessly logical, it sees man as a spiritual and material creature of God who must earn his right to live with God forever by the proper exercise of all his human faculties. Therefore these faculties are the proper object of education. Unless the graduate has been trained to fulfill his duties to himself, his neighbor, his country and above all, his God, he is not truly an educated man.

This year, the colors that are used on the cover of this book are a distinct departure from the traditional Loyola school colors, green and gray. The red and gold have not been painted in without significance, but rather in keeping with the commemoration of the Ignatian Year. For these were the colors of the great saint in whose honor this special Ignatian Year volume of the Evergreen Annual is published.

For his sympathy, understanding and the will-to-win attitude which he has inspired, not only in his teams but in all students who come into contact with him, we, the seniors of Loyola College most humbly and gratefully wish to dedicate this book to athletic director Emil G. (Lefty) Reitz.

president

This is Father Beatty's first year as President of Loyola. As President, he has the responsibility of directing policy for the school and seeing to it that academic life at Loyola is well integrated within itself, and also in its relation to the Baltimore community. Father Beatty's smile and good humor have made him a popular figure on the Loyola campus.

mass of the holy ghost

In keeping with an old Jesuit tradition, Loyola College, both faculty and student body, opens each school year with the celebration of the Mass of the Holy Ghost. On this occasion, the College rededicates itself to the task it is about to assume and asks the blessings of God on its labors. This year the Mass was said on Monday, September 19.

The Very Reverend Vincent F. Beatty, S.J., was inaugurated as the twenty-second President and Rector of Loyola College on Thursday, November 3, at 11 a.m. in the Evergreen gym.

The formal ceremonies began with an academic procession from Cohn Hall.

After the invocation by the Most Rev. Jerome D. Sebastian, D.D., Auxiliary Bishop of Baltimore, Father Beatty was formally inducted as President by the Rev. Robert L. Hoggson, S.J., Vice-President of the College.

Honorary degrees were then conferred upon several outstanding visitors. Included among these were: Most Rev. Francis P. Keough, D.D., Archbishop of Baltimore; Admiral Hyman G. Rickover, United States Navy; and Mr. Edward L. Flanigan.

After a brief speech by Governor McKeldin, the ceremonies were closed with a benediction by the Most Rev. Francis P. Keough.

The early afternoon of June 24, 1955 found the Loyola College Faculty House ablaze in the worst disaster in the College's history. The blaze is believed to have originated in the basement; spreading rapidly, it had already broken through the shingle roof by the time the first firemen arrived. Only a southerly breeze prevented flames from quickly engulfing the entire building. Thirty-five pieces of apparatus were required to bring the eight alarm fire under control.

Only the south wing, a comparatively recent addition to the building, was unharmed. This section is currently occupied by the offices of the president and is the living quarters of seven Jesuit faculty members.

"The students of Jesuit Colleges across the world are given time off each year from their academic activity to think about their relationship to the Creator. A few days of the annual retreat allow the student time to gain further knowledge of, to examine his service of, and to rekindle his love of his heavenly Father."

This year the retreats were held at Evergreen for the underclassmen, and at Manresa-on-the-Severn for the seniors. Conducting the services were: Frs. Dolan, S.J., and Burke, S.J.; at Manresa, Fr. Mack, S.J.

"In order to promote student activities, preserve and foster the growth of college traditions and prestige, to represent the considered interests of the students before the college administration concerning academic and disciplinary affairs" . . . These were the constitutional aims to which the Student Council was dedicated during the past school year.

Among its activities, the Council supervised freshman orientation, freshman elections and the high school Senior Days. It also helped with the Presidential Inauguration.

One of the main projects for the second semester was the study of student government at Loyola, with a view to making certain changes in the Council's organization, and therefore, changes in the Student Council constitution. The following goals were sought: a) better representation of the whole student body; b) greater efficiency of operation; c) more student participation in Council activities.

Officers for this year were: Tom Burch, President; John Tormey, Vice-President; Gene May, Secretary; Sam Ady, Treasurer; Jack Doetzer, Social Secretary and Paul Rogers, Parliamentarian.

Were the editors to chronicle the full story of the joy, sorrow and anguish which they experienced at different times in the course of producing this book, they could probably fill as many pages as are contained herein. Shortly after joining the staff, their awe at the prospects of what seemed an unrealizable goal grew to such proportions that they contemplated everything short of suicide in their despair. junior sodality

The Loyola Junior Sodality under the guidance of the Rev. Francis X. Knott, S.J., took great strides during the year. The theme for this year was "Organization Based on the John Carrol System." In following this theme, weekly lectures were held for proba-tionists who, in turn, were assigned individual counsellors from among the Sodalists. This system provided the candidates with a deeper appreciation and understanding of the Sodality way of life.

In keeping with its aim: to foster the spiritual growth of its members through a set program of devotions and mental prayer, and through aiding the Church in her apostolic activity, the Senior Sodality of the Immaculate Conception had as a regular part of its program a study of the, "daily duties," or rules governing the Sodality way of life.

In March, the Senior Sodalists acted as hosts on an outing held on campus for about thirty boys from St. Patrick's and Dolan's Aid Orphanages.

By way of cultivating special devotion to the Blessed Mother, the Sodality sponsored devotions in her honor throughout October and May.

The Evergreen Quarterly is a student publication containing poems, short stories and essays. A close-walled room in the Dell Building is the office of the staff. Here the preliminary work of each issue is handled including page makeup, grammatical cor-

To the perfectionists of musical listening, the Music Club, rapidly becoming one of the most popular organizations on campus, offers the thrill of a growing collection of recorded music. Besides playing weekly programs of hi-fi music of a wide variety, the club has extended its activities to discussions and papers on composers and their works, and even to live concerts by students, such as Bob Pula's presentation of some of his own compositions. President of the club this year was Bob Pula.

1955-56 was a big year for news at Loyola. The inauguration of a new President of the College, the fire in the faculty house, the grant of the Ford Foundation, the celebration of Ignatian Year—these happenings and many others hit the front pages of the Greyhound.

For the second consecutive year, the paper appeared bi-weekly. The Greyhound Bulletin, printed daily, continued to cover the day-to-day events of college life and activities.

d'Invilliers, S.J., and editor-in-chief, Sam Ady, the Greyhound has enlivened its pages through the use of more pictures, bolder make-up, and the inclusion of boxes and hand-drawn maps.

Under the hardworking staff of fifty-three, all phases of campus life have been covered—dances, ball games, student organizations, individual faculty, alumni and student write-ups, and other events of importance. The reporters have worked hand-in-hand with the recently established College Publicity Department under Mr. John J. Kernan.

The "Watchdog," "SkepticTank," faculty, senior and sports features continue to give an inside view of the College personalia; while the inclusion of last second, up-to-date news stories has made the printer sigh in despair. Work on the Greyhound is an interesting, but hectic occupation.

The Scabbard and Blade is a national military honor society with local chapters located in one hundred thirty-one colleges and universities which have the R.O.T.C. program. The purpose of this organization is primarily to raise the standard of military education in American institutions of higher learning.

"To foster a spirit of friendship and cooperation among men in the military department and to maintain a highly efficient drill company." This is the purpose of the Pershing Rifles as propounded by its distinguished founder, John J. Pershing.

These two organizations are most active on the Loyola campus. Together, they co-sponsor the annual military ball.

"ten demerits for the first smile", was the order given to the members of the pershing rifles prior to this picture.

With a full schedule of its own, supplemented by participation in dramatic productions of other organizations, The Mask and Rapier Society put in another active year. The tireless work of Rev. John J. Scanlan, S.J., to aid the society was coupled with Mr. Harry C. Staley's incomparable direction to give the Dramatic Society a group of productions including both the humorous and the serious.

With the opening production moved back to October, three one act plays were offered,

After considerable deliberation, a condensation of Marc Connelly's Pulitzer Prize-winning play, "The Green Pastures" was entered in the Jesuit One Act Play Contest, held this season at St. Joseph's College in Philadelphia. Although Loyola did not repeat its win of the previous year, they nevertheless put on a show which possessed a wealth of audience appeal. It included some seven scenes and a cast of 28 along with a choir and band.

The "ties have it" might be the call of this year's soccer team as the Greyhound booters saw four of their nine games end in deadlocks. Despite the ties, it was a winning season for Coach Tommy Lind's boys who came out on the long end of a three-two margin in wins and losses.

The highlights of the schedule were the Western Maryland and Hopkins games. In the former the Loyolans tied the Green Terrors 1-1. This tie was the only mark on the Western Maryland record as they went undefeated to win the Conference title. At Homewood against the Blue Jays, the Hounds blanked the home team 4-0 with All Mason-Dixon selection Jim Allenbaugh starring in the nets. In addition to Allenbaugh those receiving mention on the All-Conference team were Jack Benzing, Fred Cox, Ed Dentz and John Quinn.

Led by an experienced Freshman, Ken Billeb, the Hound thinclads raced to their best record in five years, winning four of seven dual meets.

Billeb was helped by the consistent running of newcomers Jerry Frese, Jim Spriggs and John Usowski and returnees Jim Henneman and Paul Rohde. Frese did an outstanding job his first year by placing second to Billeb, for Loyola, in each meet. Spriggs and Henneman alternated in the third spot with Usowski, Rohde or Junior Bob Mansfield taking fifth.

basketball

Powered by its longest winning streak in 25 years, Loyola snatched the Mason-Dixon Conference basketball title from arch-rival Mount St. Mary's after a two year hiatus, but tumbled to the Mounties in the tournament finals for the third straight year. Loyola locked its seventh Mason-Dixon championship on twelve straight victories, including a pair of wins over the Saints, 73-67, at Emmitsburg, and, 73-72, at Evergreen; but St. Mary's, paced by All-State forward Jack Sullivan's 44 points, beat the 'Hounds, 107-86, in a record-breaking tournament final.

Coach Lefty Reitz's operatives compiled a 19-9 over-all record against opposition that included four of the eight National Invitation Tournament quarter-finalists. Tony Pistorio, the Greyhounds' clever floor player, was named to the All-State, All-Conference and All-Tournament teams. Jim Allenbaugh was selected to the second team on all three, while Paul Dodd was listed on the Tournament "dream team" and drew honorable mention on the Conference team. Captain Bill Brown received honorable mention on the All-State quint.

Brown, Pistorio, Gene Grimes, Earl Hamper and Waide Howley, helped by Jim Henneman and Jack Cummings, kept things humming in the backcourt, while George Leyh, Jim Allenbaugh, Jim Staiti, Denny McGuire and Paul Dodd, along with Harp Fitzgerald, Joe Watkins and Jack Benzing, carried forecourt firepower for the Hounds, who compiled a 13-1 mark in Mason-Dixon play, bowing only to American U., 73-71, in the regular season finale.

Near midseason Loyola swept to a 71-65 triumph over Washington College, launching a twelve-game winning streak, longest in 25 years. After this, the Hounds, storming from a 10-1 deficit, boomed into the title picture by dumping Mt. St. Mary's, 73-67, at Emmitsburg for its fifth straight Mason-Dixon win.

After downing Western Maryland for a second time, 89-67, Johns Hopkins, 83-59, Spring Hill (Ala.), 89-74 and Washington, 82-70, the Hounds faced St. Mary's again in a test to decide the Conference championship. Loyola repulsed the Mounties, 73-72, in a thrilling home court battle and virtually assured itself of its seventh Mason-Dixon Conference basketball crown. The title was mathematically cinched with the Greyhounds twelfth straight triumph, 87-67, over Johns Hopkins.

All-Marylanders Tom Keys, Bucky Foote and Jim Fowler helped Lefty Reitz's charges to a five game season-ending win streak after a midseason slump had plunged the Frosh heavily onto the debit side of the ledger.

Besides Keys, Foote and Fowler, the Frosh roster was made up of Paul Corbett, Paul DiPino, Ferd Ruppel, Phil Arnold, Dick Sneeringer, Don Deinlein and Jim Teabo.

After a rather disappointing start, the Loyola swimming team came on strong toward the end of the season to place third in the Mason-Dixon Conference tournament. After losing six straight dual meets, the Hound natators, coming from behind, tied eventual champion Catholic University, 42-42, in their last Conference meet.

Throughout the season, Loyola was paced by undefeated diver Tony Dorn, Captain Ray Penn, Gil Wheeler, Wayne White, Fred Schildwachter, Elmer Medley and the Karpers brothers, Bernie and Mike. A late season addition, Joe Miraglia, helped the team considerably in the tournament.

Injuries to key wrestlers proved costly to Coach Frank Christ's winless Loyola grapplers. Early season mishaps were sustained by three senior veterans; John McCann, Jack Small and Les Purcell. Captain Larry D'Orazio was also out with virus attacks.

During the season the 127-lb. weight class was manned by soph Tony Demma, while freshman Gormer Kelly did likewise at the 146-lb. position. Greyhound Captain, Larry D'Orazio, worked at the 137-lb. slot and at the 157-lb berth were featured both Brian Varacalle and John Votta. The 167-lb. weight was held down by three freshmen; Bill Spillane, Pat Nolan and Joe Stine. Kris Kirstukas wrestled the 177-lb. spot, while in the heavyweight class, the injured-ridden veteran Les Purcell yielded his post at mid-season to freshman Ed Karp.

Under the leadership of President Ed Dentz and Vice-President Frank Dickson the Block L Club was very active, sponsoring several social events. The highlights of its program were the Block L Dance and the annual Club Smoker. The Dance was held on the Evergreen campus, in Cohn Auditorium, and featured the music of Reds Popoli. The annual Smoker took advantage of the facilities of the lounge and was highlighted by the guest speaker, a favorite Baltimore sportswriter. As usual the Block L members were feted at the Athletic Banquet which closed the year's activity for the club.

With the coming of the warm weather the stickmen took over the athletic field in preparation for the Lacrosse season.

The Hounds of '56, including eighteen returning lettermen under the direction of head coach Charlie Wenzel and assistant coach Buzzy Budnitz sported a well-rounded team to line up to the most difficult schedule in Loyola's lacrosse history.

Flattery was helped on defense by sophomore Bill Hooper and Co-Captains Paul Buckmaster and Jay Kunkel. This unit was backed up by Paul Flattery, Bo Finnerty and Jim Wetzel. At midfield the team featured speed and agility with two equally-mobile combinations. Number one was composed of Mick McFadden, Bob Wintz and Joe Murray and number two of Jeff Creamer, Laddy Otell and Marty Fairbank. The attack was led by veterans Chuck Franklin, Russ Hildebrand, John Kirby and Dick Gray.

With fourteen returning lettermen and a host of outstanding freshmen, the Hounds waged a hard battle for the league title. Leading the lettermen was senior John Quinn, this year's captain. Others included hard-hitting, smooth-fielding Earl Hamper, Jerry McCarron, back after a year's layoff due to a leg injury, Jack Snedecor, Jack Beatty, Harp Fitzgerald, and scrappy Ed Dentz. The pitching staff was built around right-handers Lou Hofferbert, Jack Benzing, Gary Foreman and left-hander Jim Henne-

The team this year faced a twenty game schedule which included defending Mason-Dixon champion Randolph-Macon, plus a double header with last year's Northern Division winner, Washington College. Hofstra, Georgetown and Villanova provided the Hounds with tough non-conference opposition.

Leading the par-busters this season was Sophomore Ivar Welinder and Captain Jim Roche. With these two underclassmen in the top spots the Loyolans served notice that they have no idea of relinquishing their M-D golf domination in the near future. The 1956 team was given a large boost by the return from the service of veteran Tony Pistorio who resumed his position on the squad and added to their success. Rounding out the team were Andy Michaels, Paul Kohlhepp and Denny McGuire. These three men alternated at the number four position throughout the year. All of them are in their second year as members of the Loyola team. Mount Pleasant Public Golf Course, one of the finest public links in the country, served as the home site for all Loyola matches. The long fairways, over 6000 yards in length, and the big, well-trapped greens were ably met by the Hounds.

The 1956 edition of the Loyola track team was young but victory minded. They competed in five dual meets and placed men in the Mason-Dixon championships. Coach Bill McElroy has great hopes for a well-rounded squad within the next few years.

Among the top men of the '56 season were a pair of freshmen, Hugh McKenna and Ken Billeb. These two accounted for a good share of the team's points in the 100-yd. dash and the mile and two miles runs, respectively. Paul Dodd made his first appearance in track togs after playing two years on the Green and Grey baseball squad. In the high jump, Gerry Kauper, Milt Borkowski, and Jerry Frese put on a good showing, while Tony Demma and Captain Dave Bryan handled the pole vaulting chores.

The 1956 edition of Loyola's perennial championship tennis teams came through the season with flying colors winning practically all of their matches. The Hounds met successfully the best in the Mason-Dixon and several outstanding non-league opponents while also being able to place most of their members high in the Maryland State Tournament ranks.

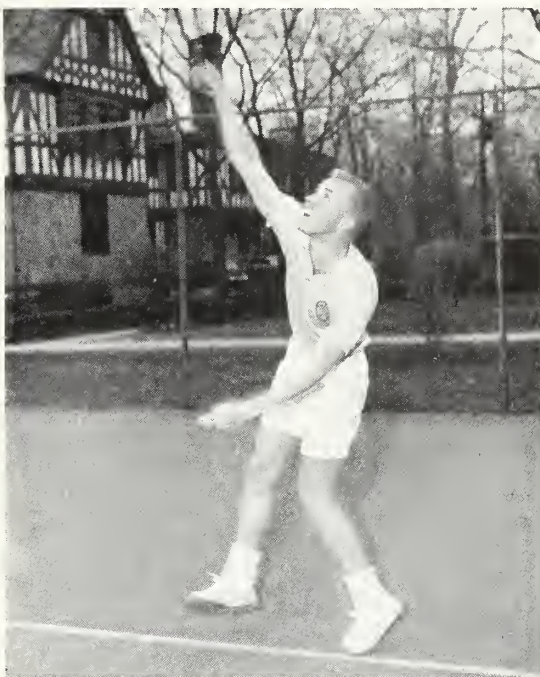

The netmen, ably coached by Mr. Vincent J. Colimore, were off to a fine start this year having six lettermen returning from the 1955 champs. Captains Waide Howley and Frank Dickson, the team's number one and two men, added the spark that enabled the Hounds to do so well. The co-captains were backed up by such stalwarts as veterans Skip Chard, Bob O'Connor, Jack Cummings, Mick Mohler, and Mitch Twardowicz. The newcomer was freshman Jim Fowler.

Coach Colimore had the best doubles team in the Mason-Dixon in seniors Dickson and Howley. O'Connor and Mohler usually comprised the number two doubles team.

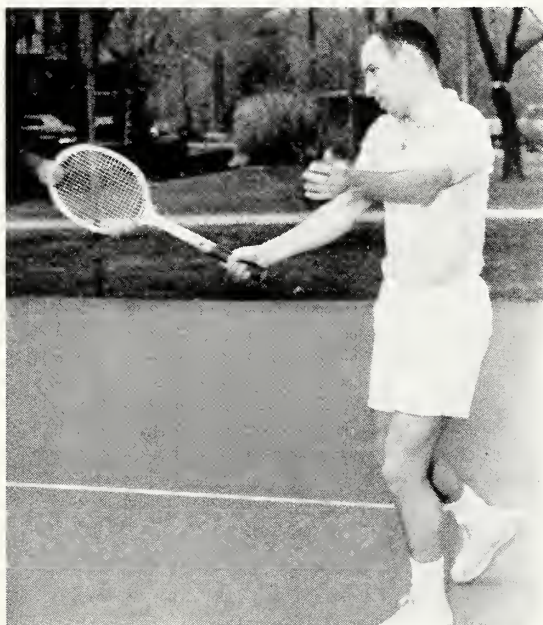

Chard and O'Connor served as the team's number three and four men while Cummings, Twardowicz and Fowler proved themselves invaluable to the squad in other doubles combinations, in addition to occasional efforts in the singles slots.

In winning their first ten matches of the year, the tennis team stretched its winning streak to twenty-five straight. Coach Colimore credits this to the fact that the team has good balance and three very strong doubles teams, "which can all play in the first spot".

In the fall intramural season, it was the Streaks from the senior class winning their third straight football championship. The Streaks were undefeated in league play. Paced by the running of backs Frank Dickson and Paul Feild, the seniors had little opposition as they defeated the Bohs 20-0 in the championship game. Paul Buckmaster and Jay Kunkel led a hard charging Streak line.

The Ramblers from the freshman class finished third. Bucky Foote, Joe Boddiford and Dave Hartwig were outstanding. Other good teams were the Southern Gents, led by Bob Wintz and Joe Murray; the Hounds, led by Mike Kraus and the Cyclones with Jack Cummings and Ray Cross.

Other fall intramural events saw freshman Paul Scheel win the singles tennis tournament by defeating senior Tom Coyle 2-6, 6-2, 6-4. Coyle was runnerup last year to sophomore Twardowicz.

The intramural horseshoes championship was won by Commissioner Walt Reiter as he defeated Leo Romeo.

The junior Olympians who were seeded third in this year's intramural basketball race captured their first championship by downing the fourth seeded Regimentals, 36-24. The winners finished the season without a defeat in the double elimination tournament and replaced the senior Streaks as kings of the hardwood.

This year's tournament was marked by many upsets and provided several close games. Both the Olympians and the Regimentals brushed by the powerful Streaks on their way to the playoff game, the latter winning by one point. Another powerhouse which could not get started during the year but which could prove a threat next season is the Rinky-Dink squad of the Sophomore Class. In the statistical resume of the 55-56 campaign, Jim Young of the Streaks proved to be the leading scorer followed by Becker of the Olympians. The All-Star team is as follows: Becker, Olympians; Turnbaugh, Regimentals; Young, Streaks; W. McKenna, Rinky-Dinks; Fava, Olympians.

The swimming intramurals were resumed this year with one team from each of the four classes participating. Joe Miraglia, Hound freestyler was added to the varsity after being discovered swimming in the intramurals.

Softball, volleyball and doubles; tennis, horseshoes and ping-pong were the sports scheduled on the spring program. Strong teams in the nine-team softball league were the defending champion Streaks and the Frosted Goblets both from the senior class.

In volleyball, it was again the defending champion Streaks who were favored. Tom Coyle-Gene Fink and Bunny Kirby-Jack McLaughlin were co-favored teams in the hotly contested tennis doubles events.

time spent and services rendered in the production of this annual, the editors would publicly like to express their gratitude to the following people.

To the REV. JAMES F. DOUGHERTY, S.J., moderator, who helped in all aspects of book production.

To MR. JAMES E. CONNER, printer's representative who smoothed out many of the rough spots which our inexperience had created.

To MR. JOHN J. KERNAN, College Publicity Director, who aided us in our patron drive.

To the REV. WILLIAM J. GIBBONS, S.J., who allowed us the use of library facilities in our letter mailing program.

To BOB MEAD, layout editor, whose original ideas on makeup appear throughout the book.

To GEORGE NELLIES who designed the cover of the book.

In the business end of our annual to BERNIE DEINLEIN and MIKE LEAKAN, assistant business managers in sales and patrons respectively. To their staff of RAY JONES, JACK KENNY, JIM KOCH, DICK GRAY, JERRY FRESE and JERRY MCCARRON.

To the rest of the staff who assisted in writing, typing, art, etc. These include ANDY BLASCO, TOM COYLE, JACK DUMLER, STEVE GAVIN, DICK GRAY, TIM HOOPER, RAY JONES, TOM GORSUCH, CHARLIE KRAUSE, PETE KNAPP, JOE MUFFOLET, JERRY NEUMAN and BOB PRELLER.
